Science Literacy

Collectively called Glassroom Hive, Nicholas Linke began by writing Malignant, Dharma & Eldon, and The Moirae. He started YouTube Channel to connect with his three children, lovingly named Stink Finks.

Anticipating the challenges they will face beyond childhood, Nicholas wanted to merge entertainment with education. This ambition influenced his fictional universe, the real world essays (Tangents), videos (Hourglass Science), and podcasts (The Delta).

BOOKS

MALIGNANT

Malignant is a contemporary, new adult, dark humor science fiction novel. Broken into the protagonist's four years at college, it is scattered with fragments of his life after he learns the truth about his past. The entire book disregards linear time, both in format and content.

THE MOIRAE SERIES

Imagine if The Matrix infected Percy Jackson. The Moirae follows the three Greek Fates in the modern-day mythology of drugs, sex, and violence woven within deep philosophical discussions.

REVIEWS

"I couldn't put it down; well-written, entertaining, and thought provoking!"

–C. Olearnick

"Mind bending, informative, and entertaining. The author's attention to detail as he builds the philosophical theories are exceptional."

– Adam Sommer

"Malignant is a journey through youth that explores the reality of today into a future yet to come... you may find that your first impressions are not your last."

– Tim L.
